Dear Perennial Supporter,

With winter here and the festive season approaching, we have a plenty of updates to share. This month, we celebrate training 25 new Mental Health First Aiders, thank our brilliant Royal Parks Half Marathon fundraisers and share the exciting news that York Gate is a regional winner in the 2026 RHS Partner Garden of the Year. Plus, discover how Fullers Mill is supporting winter wildlife, explore our charity gift scheme and find out how to treat someone special to a 2027 exclusive garden tour.

Best wishes from everyone at Perennial

Growing mental health support

We're delighted to have trained 25 new Mental Health First Aiders from across horticulture in England and Scotland. These trained volunteers help create more supportive workplaces by recognising when colleagues may be struggling and guiding them to support. We're planning more paid-for courses in 2027, so keep an eye out for further details.

Shop festive decorations

Deck the halls with our collection of gardening inspired Christmas decorations, as featured in the national press. From felt and beaded vegetables to miniature forks, trowels and hand painted glass sheds and greenhouses. You'll also find elegant gardening quotes to hang on your tree before displaying in the garden year round. Every purchase helps support people working in horticulture.

Seasonal Shopping

Our delicious Grandma Wilds biscuits, baked in Yorkshire, are a customer favourite – don't miss out on these festive treats! Pop some in your basket online or at our York Gate gift shop alongside your Christmas cards and decorations. Shop with us this Christmas and make your gifts go a little further. Thank you.
